"This project provides the residential construction program of TRU School of Trades & Technology students a real higher end home to work on and our members do the parts of construction the students are unable to do and/or provide the materials required for the various aspects of the home," said Doug Wittal, President of CHBA Central Interior.

"This is the largest house we have ever completed. Without our member's generous support, the project would not be realized. "

CHBA Central Interior is an active residential builder association of 190 members representing the Central Interior region of BC.
